

I am concerned about the FCC's proposal to expand LPFM service which would allow LPFM stations to take priority over current FM translator service. The local radio station in the town where I live carries family friendly K-LOVE radio. It greatly serves the public interest by providing family friendly programming. We can listen to it without worrying about inappropriate topics being heard by our children. If it were to be displaced by an LPFM broadcaster providing other programming, our community will have the only encouraging, uplifting radio station in our town. Thank you.
